Supporting UNC Men's Soccer

The University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill and Nike. Inc. signed a new 10-year contract for Nike to be the exclusive supplier of athletic footwear, apparel and accessory products to the Tar Heels effective July 1, 2008. Nike will provide the athletic department with shoes, uniforms, coaching gear, balls and other equipment. In addition to the apparel and equipment, which constitutes the majority of the value of the contract, Nike will give the University $2 million to the Chancellor's Academic Enhancement Fund. Chancellor Holden Thorp says he will direct the funds to faculty support. Nike will also provide support for team tours, travel and hosting regular-season tournaments in several sports. The athletic department will also receive $1 million for signing the contract, with those funds being used to overhaul lighting and sound at the Dean E. Smith Center.

Previewing the 2012 Campaign

North Carolina is coming off arguably the most impressive season in school history. The Tar Heels became the first team since Virginia in 1995 to claim the treble (ACC regular season, ACC tournament and NCAA titles).

The Tar Heels lost quite a bit of talent for the second consecutive year as a pair of players were drafted in the first round of the MLS SuperDraft and a total of five Tar Heels signed professional contracts.

Carolina will have a much different look in 2012 after losing five starters from last year's national championship contest.

Seniors Scott Goodwin and Jordan Gafa will look to lead a young group in 2012 as the Tar Heels boast 10 upperclassmen and a remarkable 24 underclassmen.

Carolina brought in another top 5 recruiting class as this year's group was tabbed No. 3 in the country by College Soccer News.

Despite losing so many starters, the Tar Heels return 13 players with experience off of last year's squad.

Up Top

The Tar Heels will be looking to several new faces to find the back of the net in the attacking third this season after losing nearly 90 percent of their goals scored form a year ago.

Junior Rob Lovejoy tallied seven goals, including a tying header against UCLA in the national semifinals, as a sophomore in 2011.

Lovejoy will be out of the lineup for the forseeable future after undergoing surgery in the offseason

Freshman Danny Garcia, who played with the U.S. U20 squad during the summer, will likely earn early playing time for the Tar Heels.

Junior transfer Andy Craven was a prolific goal scorer for the College of Charleston in his first two years. Craven was on the pitch for just eight matches a year ago due to injury but tallied six goals during the span.

Junior Josh Rice should see plenty of time up top for the Tar Heels after being a super sub as a sophomore.

Sophomore Cooper Vandermaas-Peeler should also battle for time in the Tar Heel 11 along with Swedish freshman Raby George and fellow freshmen Nyambi Jabang and Nico Rittmeyer.

In The Middle

The midfield should have the most experience of any group on the field for the Tar Heels in 2012 as seniors Jordan Gafa and Martin Murphy should see plenty of playing time.

After a two-year absence due to injury, sixth-year senior Cameron Brown is due back for the Tar Heels and should provide an attacking presence in the midfield. Brown was a second team All-ACC pick as a junior before suffering a knee injury during the PDL season.

The ACC Freshman of the Year, Mikey Lopez, also returns for the Tar Heels after playing with the U.S. U20 squad during the summer.

Transfers Chipper Root (South Carolina) and Verneri Valimaa (George Mason) should also see time in the midfield for the Tar Heels.

Returners Alex Walters, David Walden and Glen Long will provide depth in the midfield and will battle for playing time thorughout the year.

Another strong crop of freshmen midfielders enter for the 2012 season led by Nico Melo and Alex Olofson.

On The Backline

Carolina allowed only 18 goals a year ago and return half of its starting backline with freshman All-Americas Jordan McCrary and Boyd Okwuonu returning.

A pair of freshmen will join the sophomores in the back with January enrollee Jonathan Campbell looking to fill the hole vacated by Matt Hedges.

Freshman Joe Amon should factor into the discussion at right back and will provide speed to push forward in the Tar Heel attack.

Senior Daniel Tannous can provide depth anywhere along the backline.

Several talented freshmen could also see time including: Nathan Diehl, Darvin Ebanks, Tobi Esche, Ryan McAnallen and Nick Williams.

In Goal

Two-year starting goalkeeper Scott Goodwin returns for his final year in net after posting 11 clean sheets for the second consecutive year.

Goodwin needs just five more shutouts to set the school record for career shutous with 29. The Raleigh, N.C., native has been dominating in the classroom as well and is set to graduate in three and a half years.

Backing up Goodwin will be sophomore Brendan Moore who came on to see action in the 4-0 ACC Tournament win over NC State in 2011 and was a standout prep keeper.

Redshirt freshman Sam Euler along with incoming freshman Cole Brooks will also provide goalkeeping depth for the Tar Heels.

Head Coach Carlos Somoaono is entering his second year at the helm of the North Carolina men's soccer program after arguably the most successful season in school history.

Somoano became just the second first-year head coach in NCAA history to lead his team to a national championship as the Tar Heels posted a 21-2-3 mark en route to the 2011 NCAA title.

For his efforts, Somoano was named the 2011 National Coach of the Year by Soccer America.

The Tar Heels became only the second team in Atlantic Coast Conference history to claim the treble in a single year by winning the ACC regular season title, the ACC Tournament crown and the national championship.

In addition to his national coach of the year honors, the ACC coaches also pegged Somoano the top head man in the ACC for 2011. Somoano joined former Carolina men's coach and current Carolina women's coach, Anson Dorrance, as the second coach to be named the ACC Coach of the Year in their first year on the job.

Several Tar Heels earned national recognition in 2011 under Somoano's watch with Matt Hedges, Enzo Martinez and Billy Schuler earning All-America honors. Another Tar Heel, Ben Speas, was also named the National Player of the Year by Soccer America.

Five Tar Heels earned All-ACC honors in 2011 with Scott Goodwin, Matt Hedges, Enzo Martinez and Billy Schuler being named first team and Kirk Urso joining the second team. Mikey Lopez, Jordan McCrary and Boyd Okwuonu were all named to the ACC All-Freshman Team, while Hedges and Lopez earned Defender of the Year and Freshman of the Year, respectively.

The Tar Heels also excelled in the classroom with Scott Goodwin, Rob Lovejoy and Kirk Urso earning ACC All-Academic Team honors in 2011.

While an assistant at Carolina, Somoano helped recruit six top 10 recruiting classes and watched over one of the most successful periods in school history. The Tar Heels advanced to three consecutive NCAA College Cups, including the 2008 National Championship game, and amassed a 118-52-27 record under Somoano's watch.

Somoano helped lead the Tar Heels to nine All-America honors and 41 All-Atlantic Coast Conference honors, including the 2003 ACC Rookie of the Year, Jamie Watson. Twelve different Tar Heels were named to the All-ACC Academic Team for their work in the classroom and on the field, including 2010 ACC Men's Soccer Academic Athlete of the Year Kirk Urso.

Somoano also played a key part in developing the Tar Heels into professional soccer players helping lead 19 former players into Major League Soccer. David Stokes, Dax McCarty, Michael Harrington, Zach Loyd, Jalil Anibaba and Eddie Ababio have all been MLS SuperDraft selections under the tutelage of Somoano.

Three former Tar Heels who played under Somoano have represented the United States in the past few years as Dax McCarty, Logan Pause and Zach Loyd have all been called upon to represent their country.

Somoano was named a Top 20 Assistant Coach by College Soccer News six times in his career as well as the NSCAA South Region Assistant Coach of the Year in 2010. In addition to his work with the Tar Heels, Somoano has coached 16-to-18-year old boys with Raleigh's Capital Area Soccer League since 2002. He has guided three different teams within this age group to a total of five straight state titles and three Disney Soccer Showcase championships. Somoano also served as the United States Youth Soccer Region III Staff Coach in 2004, 2006 and 2007 and was responsible for selecting and coaching ODP state team players. He also served in a similar position in Region I from 1999-2002.

Additionally, Somoano serves as a scout for the U.S. Soccer Development Academy. In 2009, Somoano was the head coach for the U-16 CASL Chelsea Academy, where he led his team to the National Championship week. He was named the 2009 US Soccer U-15/16 Development Academy Southern Conference and National Coach of the Year. Somoano came to Carolina from Virginia Commonwealth University, where he was an assistant coach for six seasons. Prior to his stint in Richmond, he was an assistant coach at Eckerd College from 1992-95.

Somoano received a Bachelor of Science in biology (concentration in premedicine) from Eckerd College in 1992. He then earned a Master's of Sport Management degree from the University of Richmond in August of 2000. Somoano earned four letters in soccer at Eckerd College and was a two-year team captain.

Somoano is married to the former Martina Nedelkova, and the couple has two daughters and a son: Sofia Kathleen, born May 6, 2006, Gabriela Martina, born Dec. 24, 2007, and Alexander Luis, born April 24, 2011.

Jeff Negalha, a native of New Bedford, Massachusetts, is in his eighth season as an assistant coach with the North Carolina men's soccer program. He is of Portuguese descent and fluent in the language. One of the top young coaches in the country, Negalha, assists head coach Carlos Somoano in all aspects of the program as the top assistant.

Negalha was named the 2011 NSCAA National Assistant Coach of the Year for his efforts with the Tar Heels during their national championship run.

Since Negalha arrived in Chapel Hill, the Tar Heels are 103-34-23 with six NCAA Tournament appearances in seven years, four straight College Cup appearances and a national championship in 2011.

A key part of Carolina's recruiting efforts; Negalha has helped assemble seven consecutive classes ranked among the top 11 in the country, including the nation's best in 2011. In addition to the 2012 recruiting class being ranked third in the country, Negalha saw the addition of the fourth-best class in 2008, a group that featured three freshmen All-America picks.

Following the 2006 season, Negalha was recognized by College Soccer News as one of the "20 Top Assistant Coaches of 2006."

Last season, Negalha watched Scott Goodwin continue as one of the best young keepers in the country as the junior posted 11 clean sheets for the second consecutive year. In 2010, Brooks Haggerty turned in an impressive senior campaign allowing just 11 goals (0.55 gaa) on the year en route to a second-straight College Cup appearance. Haggerty earned all-tournament team honors in 2008 after coming on late in the year for the Tar Heels.

During his first season in Chapel Hill, Carolina goalkeepers combined for a school-record 15 shutouts in 2005, while Justin Hughes led the ACC with a 0.50 goals against average. In 2006, the Tar Heels posted a 0.77 goals against average, and Hughes was selected by the Colorado Rapids in the Major League Soccer SuperDraft.

In 2007, Negalha mentored rookie keeper Tyler Deric to a spot on the ACC All-Freshman Team after posting a 0.94 goals against average and six shutouts in 17 starts. Deric joined the Houston Dynamo of the MLS in 2007 and became the first home-grown player in team history to sign a professional contract.

In addition to his work at UNC, Negalha serves as the head coach for the CASL U-17 squad, is an assistant with the U.S. U18 Soccer Development Academy team and has served as a scout for U.S. Club Soccer ID2 program.

Negalha arrived in Chapel Hill from the University of South Florida. He was the Bulls' top assistant and recruiting coordinator from 2003-2005.

During his time at South Florida, the Bulls won the 2004 team the NSCAA Academic Team Award for achieving a 3.0 grade point average. The 2004 team ended the season with a 10-5-2 record, and was ranked in the top 10 in all four polls.

In 2004, he attracted the nation's No. 3 class according to College Soccer News and No. 5 class according to Soccer America, and he helped land the No. 10 class in 2003 according to College Soccer News. Two highlights of the 2004 class included Rodrigo Hidalgo and Christian Jimenez, both U.S. Under-17 National Team members and two of the top-25 recruits in the nation. Jimenez left South Florida after one season and was the 14th overall selection in the MLS SuperDraft by CD Chivas USA.

Before joining the staff at Carolina, Negalha was also instrumental in putting together the Bulls' 2005 freshmen class, which included Trinidad & Tobago youth national team member Yohance Marshall and Kevon Neaves, U.S. Under-17 National Team member and Parade All-America Blake Wagner and prep All-America and Indiana player of the year Jordan Seabrook.

Prior to joining the staff at South Florida, Negalha served as the top assistant coach at his alma mater, University of South Carolina-Spartanburg, from 1999-2002 and helped guide the Rifles to an NCAA Division II Elite Eight appearance and a No. 5 national ranking in the final poll of 2002. While at USCS, Negalha helped recruit and coach the Peach Belt Conference Player of the Year in both 2002 and 2003, as well as the league's freshman of the year in 2002.

As a player, Negalha was a two-year starter in goal for USCS and led the Rifles to the NCAA quarterfinal round and the NCAA national championship game in 1997 and '98, respectively. In his two-year career at USCS, Negalha started 47 games and recorded 19.5 shutouts while allowing just 33 goals through nearly 3,900 minutes. He also helped the Rifles won two PBAC regular season championships and two conference tournament titles.

Before attending USC Spartanburg, Negalha helped NJCAA national power Massasoit Community (Mass.) College to national semifinal and quarterfinal appearances in 1994 and '95. At the conclusion of the 1995 season, Negalha was honored with All-Conference, All-Region, and the team's MVP. Negalha earned his bachelor's degree in interdisciplinary studies with a concentration in physical education in December 2000 from USCS.

Assistant Coach Grant Porter enters his second year on the Tar Heel staff. Porter, a 2004 graduate of UNC, has been a part of both national titles in school history. Porter helped lead the Tar Heels to their first national championship in 2001 and again as an assistant coach in 2011.

Porter assists in all aspects of the program from handling travel plans to recruiting. Carolina brought in the No. 3 recruiting class for the 2012 season in Porter's first season on staff.

Porter came to Carolina with eight years of coaching experience under his belt since departing UNC.

Most recently Porter was the Director of Soccer for the Charlotte United Futbol Club in Charlotte, N.C. He has served in several different roles with the club since 2006, while also being the head soccer coach at Charlotte Country Day School since 2009.

While at Charlotte Country Day, Porter helped groom an all-state selection, a pair of all-region honorees and six all-conference award winners in his two works at the helm.

Prior to his arrival in Charlotte, Porter was an assistant coach at the University of California Santa Barbara in 2005 where he helped lead the Gauchos to an NCAA Tournament appearance, a top 25 final national ranking and eight Major League Soccer players.

Porter began his coaching career in Atlanta, Ga. at Georgia State University where he was the head assistant coach. In two years with the Panthers, Porter helped lead GSU to a winning record and a trip to the Atlantic Sun Tournament semi-finals. During his time in Atlanta Porter would earn a master's degree in sport administration from GSU.

Porter was a four-year starter during his time in Chapel Hill from the 2000-2003 seasons. He was credited with the game-winning assist in Carolina's national championship season of 2001.

He was awarded the UNC Nicholas Douglass Potter Coaches' Award in 2001. Porter would later go on to become the team captain in his senior year of 2003. The run from 2000-2003 still ranks as the best four-year span in school history.

Porter holds a bachelor's degree from the University of North Carolina in economics.

Joe Crump begins his first as a volunteer assistant coach with the Tar Heels. Crump will focus his efforts with the Carolina goalkeepers.

Crump comes to Carolina after spending the 2011 season as a volunteer assistant at the University of Cincinnati.

Prior to his time at Cincinnati, Crump spent three years at Elon and during his time at least one goalkeeper was honored with All-Southern Conference accolades. In 2007, true freshman keeper Clint Irwin claimed all-league honors and Phoenix keepers combined to help lead the program to a school-record four consecutive shutouts.

A year later, Irwin and senior Kyle Boerner were both named to the all-conference teams. It was the first time in Southern Conference history that two goalies from one school earned all-conference honors the same season. Irwin had a 0.90 goals-against average and stopped 31 shots while Boerner recorded a .742 save percentage.

Crump capped his tenure with the Phoenix in 2009 by guiding Irwin to a First-Team All-Southern Conference selection. Irwin and the team collected 10 shutouts during the season, tying the school record set by the 1987 and 1988 squads. Irwin also moved into a tie for first place on the Elon career ledger with 19 clean sheets to his credit.

The Phoenix compiled a record of 28-24-7 during Crump's three seasons while reaching the 10-win plateau twice. Elon had a winning record all three campaigns and went 15-5-0 in Southern Conference action, including a 7-0-0 mark in 2008, when the Phoenix claimed the regular-season crown.

In addition to his collegiate experience, Crump has been a North Carolina Olympic Development Program staff member and a coach for club team Triangle United. He assisted the Region III champions and USYSA National Finalists.

A 2003 UNC Greensboro graduate, Crump played for Elon head coach Darren Powell at UNCG as a three-year starter in goal, helping the squad to a 39-23-1 record and a Southern Conference runner-up finish in 2001.

Crump holds a bachelor's degree in business administration with a concentration in marketing and owns a United States Soccer Federation "A" license

Strength and Conditioning

Under the direction of the UNC Olympic sports strength and conditioning staff, Tar Heel student-athletes get outstanding coaching intended to help maximize their physical potential. The staff evaluates Carolina student-athletes in a variety of ways, including the use of specialized software for lifting and running video analysis, to encourage steady progress toward reaching optimum preparation for competition.

The men's soccer team trains at the Olympic sports weight room in Eddie Smith Field House. In addition to top-of-the-line strength equipment, the center boasts a five-lane, 25-yard rubberized surface for teaching and performing warm-up activities, acceleration drills and agility movements. Year-round training produces athletes who are prepared to compete successfully and safely.

Greg Gatz is the Director of Strength and Conditioning for Olympic Sports and oversees the program along with Eric Biener, Assistant Director of Strength and Conditioning.

Medical Care

In addition to the academic and fitness programs, the Tar Heels receive excellent care from one of the country's best sports medicine staffs.

Carolina's Director of Sports Medicine, Dr. Mario Ciocca, oversees the program and directs a staff of full-time athletic trainers and physical therapists, graduate students and undergraduates. Alain Aguilar is the head athletic trainer for the men's soccer team, while Mike Baum, Matt Mills and Chris Leeds also serve on the team's athletic training staff.

The medical and athletic training facilities are located in the Student Health Center and Fetzer Gym. Both are near Tar Heel practice areas for easy access to the treatment and advice on the care and prevention of injuries that is available from the sports medicine staff.

The Athletic Department also recognizes a responsibility in educating student athletes on the physical, mental, emotional and legal issues involved in drug abuse. Accordingly, the department has established a drug education and prevention program which is administered by the University's Student Health Services.

Bubba Cunningham Director of Athletics

Lawrence R. (Bubba) Cunningham is the director of athletics at the University of North Carolina. Chancellor Holden Thorp introduced Cunningham, who had been the director of athletics at The University of Tulsa for six years, on October 14,

Cunningham, 49, officially began his duties at Carolina on November 14, 2011, succeeding Dick Baddour. Cunningham is the seventh director of athletics in UNC history, following Robert A. Fetzer (1923-52), Chuck Erickson (1953-67), Homer Rice (1969-75), Bill Cobey (1976-80), John Swofford (1980-97) and Baddour.

Cunningham is in his 10th year as a Division I director of athletics. In addition to his tenure at Tulsa, he was the AD for three years from 2002-2005 at Ball State University.

From 1988-2002, Cunningham worked in the athletics department at the University of Notre Dame. Cunningham served as associate director of athletics for external affairs from 2000-02. He renegotiated the school's footwear contract, developed a communications and marketing plan, created marketing teams for all 26 varsity sports, increased corporate sponsorship income, created a financial/equity plan for the department and served as chairman of the NCAA Division I Women's Golf Committee.

Cunningham earned his bachelor's and master's degrees in business administration, both from Notre Dame, in 1984 and 1988, respectively. He played on the Irish golf team in 1982-83.

Cunningham serves on the NCAA Division I Men's Golf Committee, is a member of NACDA's Executive Committee, and was on the Board of Directors of the Alzheimers Association of Oklahoma and the Folds of Honor Foundation Board. Cunningham also served on the Gatorade National Advisory Board and has been a featured speaker at numerous NACDA and I-A institute conferences.

Born in Flint, Mich., and raised in Naples, Fla., Cunningham and his wife, Tina, have four children: Matthew, Michael, John and Sarah.

DR. BETH MILLER Senior Associate Director of Athletics

Beth Miller is in her 28th year supervising North Carolina's highly-successful 26-team Olympic Sports program and serves as UNC's Senior Woman Administrator.

A native of Landis, N.C., Miller is a 1968 alumna of Appalachian State University with a

B.S. degree in health and physical education. She has a master's from ASU and earned a Doctor of Arts degree in physical education at Middle Tennessee State in 1974.

From 1969-72, Miller served as the head volleyball and basketball coach at Appalachian State. She became head volleyball coach at UNC in 1975 and led the Tar Heels to four consecutive ACC titles from 1980-83 and five postseason tournament appearances. She also coached softball at Carolina from 1978-79.

In 1979, Miller was named UNC's Athletic Business Manager. She retired from coaching volleyball after 1983, but continued to handle all financial affairs for the department through 1987. She has overseen UNC's Olympic Sports program since 1985.

Miller serves on the NCAA Committee on Women's Athletics, as well as a number of Atlantic Coast Conference committees, including those for women's basketball, women's golf and volleyball. She chairs the ACC Awards Committee. Miller also is a member of UNC's Housing Advisory Board and the Enforcement and Response Protocol subcommittee of the UNC Campus Alcohol Task Force.

In recognition of her outstanding service to Carolina, Miller was honored in April of 2008 as a recipient of the 2008 C. Knox Massey Distinguished Service Award, one of the most prestigious honors bestowed by the University of North Carolina.

The Tar Heels play in front of rowdy crowds each game at Fetzer Field, the home of Carolina soccer since 1947.

A Premier Facility

A host of numerous ACC Tournament, NCAA Tournament and Final Four games over its illustrious history, Fetzer Field has long been one of the the nation's most storied soccer facilities. With the 1999 relocation of the UNC soccer offices to the McCaskill Soccer Center adjacent to Fetzer Field, Carolina enjoys perhaps the finest overall facility in all of college soccer.

Fetzer Field, which boasts a capacity of 5,025 fans, is the home to UNC's men's and women's soccer, men's and women's lacrosse and men's and women's outdoor track and field teams.

The dedication of the McCaskill Soccer Center on April 11, 1999, solidified Fetzer Field's elite status among soccer facilities. The Center is a two-story structure that houses locker rooms for the men's and women's soccer teams as well as a team meeting room, coaches' offices and a large conference room. Total costs on the project were $1.8 million.

Located in the heart of the Carolina campus, Fetzer Field was originally completed in 1935 as a Works Projects Administration program. Since 1947, the Tar Heel men have won nearly 75 percent of their games played there, going 354-110-30 (.747) in 62 seasons.

The facility has been home not only to soccer NCAA and ACC Championships, but also to several ACC Track and Field Championships, the N.C. High School Athletic Association Track and Field Championships, the National Junior Olympics and men's lacrosse NCAA and ACC Tournaments. In 1996, the facility was the home training site for the United States Track and Field Team as it prepared for the Summer Olympic Games in Atlanta. In 2001, it was home to the Carolina Courage of the WUSA.

History

Fetzer Field, named for former Tar Heel athletic director and track and field head coach Bob Fetzer, was the only home the North Carolina men's soccer program knew from the team's first varsity game in 1947 through the entirety of the 1988 campaign. When Fetzer was being renovated, the Tar Heels played all their 1989 home games at Finley Field near the University golf course, as well as the first eight home matches of 1990.

Carolina then returned home to Fetzer on Oct. 21, 1990, and celebrated the homecoming with a stunning 2-0 upset of a No. 10-ranked NC State Wolfpack team. On Nov. 10, 1990, Carolina played its first night game ever at Fetzer Field, beating Wake Forest 2-1 in the first round of the NCAA Tournament. Night games are now a regular part of the Carolina men's soccer schedule at Fetzer, and the Tar Heels will play nearly every home game on ESPN3.

Facility Upgrades

The 1989 campaign was the only year in which Carolina did not play any games at Fetzer Field since the program was founded in 1947. The facility underwent a complete renovation beginning in May 1989. The project was completed in October 1990, and the facility was officially rededicated on April 6, 1991, during a men's lacrosse game between No. 1-ranked Carolina and No. 2-ranked Johns Hopkins. At the same time, the track area of the facility was renamed the Irwin Belk Track.

The renovation project itself included resurfacing and widening of the track which encircles the soccer and lacrosse field, upgrading the grandstand seating with new aluminum bleachers and the building of permanent gatehouses. In addition, the press box at Fetzer Field was enclosed and air conditioned. A new matrix scoreboard was also installed that is complete with a message board.

On Oct. 21, 1990, the North Carolina men's soccer team officially returned home to a newly renovated Robert Allison Fetzer Field at the University of North Carolina. After nearly two years worth of remodeling and refurbishing at the legendary Fetzer grounds, the Tar Heels were back home once again.

McCaskill Soccer Center

The state-of-the-art McCaskill Soccer Center on the University of North Carolina campus was dedicated on the morning of Sunday, April 11, 1999.

"I really think this completes our wonderful facility here," head coach Elmar Bolowich said at the dedication. "We've had a great stadium, and now we've got a great facility to go along with it. This will benefit the program in the years to come."

The facility quickly paid dividends, including the 2001 NCAA title. UNC was ranked No. 1 in the nation for much of the season in 2001 and went 12-0-0 at Fetzer Field that season for the best home record in school history. Fetzer hosted three NCAA tournament games in 2000, 2001 and 2005 and one each in 2002-04 and 2006. In 2008, UNC went 10-2-0 at home en route to a national runner-up finish. In 2009, UNC went 12-1-1 at home and turned in another winning record in 2010 going 8-1-3. The 2011 National Championship season saw the Tar Heels go 13-0-2 at home and set a pair of attendance records.

The 6,600-square-foot McCaskill Soccer Center, named after Norman and Carol McCaskill, is located adjacent to Fetzer Field on the UNC campus.

"I think this building is a reflection of how much our alumni care about soccer at North Carolina," UNC women's soccer coach Anson Dorrance said. "We have a rabid following, and I think our fans will love this building."

The facility is a two-story structure, which houses locker rooms for the varsity men's and women's soccer teams as well as a team meeting room on the first floor. The second floor houses offices for both sports as well as a large conference room which can be used by all of the Tar Heels' Olympic sports teams.

The building was designed by NBBJ Architects of Research Triangle Park and was constructed by Resolute Building Company of Chapel Hill. Total costs of the project were $1.8 million.

An outstanding university in one of the country's top college towns

- The University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill was the nation's first state university to open its doors and the only public university to award degrees in the 18th century.
- Now in its third century, UNC offers bachelor's, master's, doctorate and professional degrees in a wide range of fields, including 77 bachelor's, 109 master's, 66 doctorate and six professional degree programs through 14 schools and the College of Arts and Sciences.
- Among UNC's recent rankings:
- No. 1 for offering the best combination of top-flight academics and affordable costs (Kiplinger's Personal Finance)
- No. 1 on a list of Best Value Colleges for 2012 (Princeton Review)
- No. 5 on the list of the nation's top public universities (U.S. News and World Report)
- No. 8 on a list of Top American Research Universities
- No. 12 on a list of Best Schools for Entrepreneurs (Entrepreneur Magazine and Princeton Review)
- "I like to believe I am an example of what the UNC system is all about
- taking small-town kids and giving them worldly exposure so that they can
- contribute in their communities
- and wherever opportunities lead them."
- John Skipper
- President of ESPN, UNC Graduate

Advancing to graduation,

Building Character,

Developing leadership

 The Academic Support Program assists Tar Heel student-athletes in exploring their interests and abilities, enjoying a broad educational experience, and reaching or exceeding their academic goals.

LOUDERMILK CENTER

- The Academic Support Program is housed in the Loudermilk Center for Excellence, a 150,000-square-foot facility that serves all of Carolina's nearly 800 student-athletes across 28 varsity sports. The Loudermilk Center's largest feature is the John W. Pope Student-Athlete Academic Support Center. This 29,000-square-foot facility provides classrooms for teaching and tutoring, study rooms and office space, as well as a writing lab and computer lab. It also houses the Baddour Carolina Leadership Academy, which offers leadership training for Carolina student-athletes, coaches and staff.
- During the 2011-12 academic year, 290 Carolina student-athletes earned spots on the ACC Academic Honor Roll, which is open to members of varsity squads who earn a cumulative GPA of at least 3.0 for the year. In the fall of 2011, 129 student-athletes made the Dean's List, and 124 did so in the spring of 2012.
- The Academic Support Program helps freshmen transition from high school to college through a variety of academic programs such as academic counseling, individual tutoring, group review sessions and supplemental instruction.

UNC student-athletes have the opportunity to participate in the Carolina Leadership Academy. As the nation's premier leadership development program in collegiate athletics, the Carolina Leadership Academy develops, challenges and supports student-athletes, coaches and staff in their continual quest to become world-class leaders in athletics, academics and life.

The Carolina Leadership Academy provides comprehensive and cutting-edge leadership development programming through interactive workshops, 360-degree feedback, one-on-one coaching, peer mentoring and educational resources.

Developing World-Class Leaders for a Lifetime of Service and Success

The Carolina Leadership Academy consists of three programs:

CREED Program

Leadership training begins in the freshman year. All leadership begins with personal leadership, therefore freshmen are taught skills to effectively lead themselves. Training consists of monthly meetings featuring keynote speakers and small group discussion. Upperclass student-athletes serve as peer mentors and discussion leaders. Special focus is on responsibility, accountability, making good choices, ethics and character building.

Rising Stars Program

Designed for a select group of "high potential" sophomores and juniors, the program provides future leaders with insights, strategies and skills necessary to become effective leaders. The program includes monthly meetings, interactive exercises and action learning experiences.

Veteran Leaders Program

This program is designed for team captains and veteran student-athletes. It provides advanced leadership training and support, teaches the critical skills and insights necessary to be effective vocal leaders and provides a strong peer network. Student-athletes meet regularly to learn and reinforce leadership principles and share successes, frustrations and lessons.

BADDOUR CAROUNA LEADERSHIP A CADEMY

Jordan Gafa and Scott Goodwin will serve as captains for the Tar Heels.

Carolina CREED

As a University of North Carolina studentathlete, I pledge to make every effort to abide by the Carolina CREED as a show of my commitment to the University, the Department of Athletics, my team and myself.

- C I will know and embrace the tradition and CULTURE of this great University and its athletics department
- R I will RESPECT myself and others
- E I will pursue EXCELLENCE in my academic work by striving to reach my academic potential while preparing for a career of significance
- E I will EXCEL athletically by committing myself to performance excellence, team success and continual improvement
- D I will DEVELOP the capacity to effectively lead myself and others

ACC Player Of The Week Matt Hedges

Tar Heels Claim The Treble

- Carolina became the first ACC team since 1995 to claim the ACC regular season, ACC tournament and NCAA titles in the same year. Virginia is the only team to accomplish the feat having pulled off the treble in 1991, 1992 and 1995.
- · Carolina posted a 5-1-2 league mark and were unbeaten in its last seven matches to finish atop the table in the ACC for a third consecutive year in 2011
- · The Tar Heels finished with 17 points, two ahead of runner-up Maryland, after posting an undefeated record a year ago.
- · Carolina finished in a tie with Wake Forest for the regular season title in 2009.
- · After being upset at Virginia Tech in the ACC opener the Tar Heels rolled off back-to-back wins at Wake Forest and Virginia before drawing against Duke. Following a 2-0 win over Clemson the Tar Heels drew Maryland before closing with an overtime win against rival NC State and a 2-0 rout at Boston College.
- · The Tar Heels would go on to win the ACC Tournament crown as well, outscoring its opponents 8-1 over the week en route to the title.

A Magical Tournament Run

- · After earning a bye in the first round, the Tar Heels took on possibly the top offensive team in the country in the second round as UNC downed Coastal Carolina, 3-2, after finding the back of the net three times in the final 45 minutes.
- The third round saw the Tar Heels grind out a 1-0 overtime win over 16-seed Indiana as junior Billy Schuler finished off a free ball in the 97th minute.
- · The Tar Heels then dismantled Saint Mary's to book their fourth consecutive trip to the NCAA College Cup with a 2-0 win over the Gaels.
- · Carolina opened the College Cup with perhaps the most entertaining match in college soccer history as the Tar Heels battled UCLA to a 2-2 draw.
- The Tar Heels came out victorious with a 3-1 penalty shootout win to punch a ticket to their NCAA Tournament Final in school history.
- · Carolina faced in-state foe Charlotte in a physical affair that saw junior Ben Speas turn in the goal of the tournament in the 65th minute to provide Carolina its second national title in school history.

Somoano Leaves Mark In First Season

- Head Coach Carlos Somoano made an impressive debut in his first season as the Tar Heel head coach led the Tar Heels to a 21-2-3 record.
- · Somoano became the second coach in NCAA history to win a national title his first year as a head coach as he helped the Tar Heels lift the trophy. Indiana's Mike Freitag was the last first year head coach to win a national title in 2004.

- For his efforts Somoano was named the National Coach of the Year by Soccer America along with the ACC Coach of the Year joining former Tar Heel head men Marvin Allen, Anson Dorrance and Elmar Bolowich.
- Somoano became just the second coach in ACC history to earn Coach of the Year honors in his first year, joining former Tar Heel head coach Anson
- · Somoano became the third coach in NCAA history to register at least 20 wins in his first year as a head coach as he joined Chuck Clegg (1982) of San Diego State and Mitch Murray (1991) of Santa Clara as the only coaches to accomplish the feat.

- · Senior captain Kirk Urso passed Eddie Ababio's (2006-10) matches played record in the national semifinal and finished his career with 91 matches played.
- · Urso has found the back of the net 15 times during his career, while dishing out 24 assists over his four years on campus.
- · Urso fell one assist shy of entering Carolina's top 10 for career assists.
- Urso became the first player since Wake Forest's Zack Schilawski to appear in four straight NCAA College Cups. Schilawski and the Demon Deacons reached the College Cup from 2006-09.
- · The Lombard, III., native tragically passed away in August of 2012 in Columbus, Ohio.

Speas - Soccer America National Player of the Year

- · Carolina junior Ben Speas became the first player in school history to earn a National Player of the Year honor when Soccer America tabbed the forward as its National Player of the Year.
- · Speas took his game to another level during tournament action as he tallied the game winning goal in the 1-0 national championship match.
- · Speas would go on to sign a homegrown contract with the Columbus Crew.

Schuler Named MAC Hermann Trophy Finalist

- · Carolina junior Billy Schuler was named one of three finalists for college soccer's top award the MAC Hermann Trophy.
- · Schuler led the Tar Heels with 16 goals scored in 2011 which tied for the fourth most in a single season
- The redshirt junior would finish behind Duke's Andrew Wenger for the MAC Hermann Trophy.
- · Schuler signed a professional contract with Hammarby IF in the offseason and joined former Tar Heel and current manager Gregg Berhalter in Sweden.

Billy Schuler.....

Trio Named NSCAA All-America

- Matt Hedges, Enzo Martinez and Billy Schuler were all named to the NSCAA All-America First Team, as it marked the first time in school history that three players earned first team honors in the same season.
- The honors were the second for all three players as Hedges earned second team honors at Butler a year ago, while Schuler was named to the third team in 2009 and Martinez earned third team honors a year ago.
- Schuler, a MAC Hermann Trophy finalist, picks up his second All-America honor after leading the Tar Heels in scoring with 16 goals and five assists on the season. Schuler was named to the NSCAA All-America Third Team as a sophomore after tallying nine goals and five assists.
- Martinez claimed NSCAA All-America Third Team honors a year ago after leading the Tar Heels in scoring and continued his scoring output in 2011. Martinez ranked second on the team with nine goals and led the Tar Heels in assists with 10 on the year.
- Hedges came into North Carolina as one of the top defenders in the country after earning second team honors as a junior at Butler in 2010 and lived up to his billing in 2011. Hedges found the back of the net six times this season and was a key cog in a defense that ranked among the top 10 in the country.

Tar Heels Dominate ACC Awards

- The Atlantic Coast Conference announced the 2011 season honors and several Tar Heels were among the honorees.
- Senior defender Matt Hedges was named the ACC Defensive Player of the Year for his part in helping the Tar Heels allow a league-low 13 goals. Hedges became the first Tar Heel to win ACC Defensive Player of the Year honors since the inception of the award in 2004.
- Freshman midfielder Mikey Lopez becames the first Tar Heel since Jamie Watson in 2003 to capture ACC Freshman of the Year honors. Lopez wreaked havoc in the midfield for the Tar Heels as he found the back of the net three times and added three assists.

- Carolina nearly swept all of the awards as head coach Carlos Somoano was named ACC Coach of the Year as well.
- Four Tar Heels were named to the All-ACC First Team as Hedges was joined by goalkeeper Scott Goodwin, midfielder Enzo Martinez and redshirt junior forward Billy Schuler. The award was Schuler's second of his career after earning first team honors in 2009.
- Senior midfielder Kirk Urso earned second team honors, while Lopez was joined on the All-Freshman Team by defenders Boyd Okwuonu and Jordan McCrary.

Pipeline To The Pros

- Carolina had a player taken in the first round of the MLS SuperDraft First Round for the third consecutive year when Matt Hedges and Enzo Martinez were taken in the 2012 edition.
- Hedges was the ninth overall pick by FC Dallas in the SuperDraft as the senior defender helped anchor one of the top defenses in the country.
- Junior midfielder Enzo Martinez signed a deal with Major League Soccer for a prestigious homegrown contract, annually given to the top underclassmen in the country.
- Martinez would go on to be selected by Real Salt Lake in the first round after posting the second most points for the Tar Heels in 2011.
- Junior midfielder Ben Speas played club soccer with the Columbus Crew while coming up through the ranks and was eligible to sign with the Crew whenever the club was interested.
- After his stellar campaign with the Tar Heels, Speas was an attractive option to the Crew who signed the Ohio native in the offseason.
- Kirk Urso heard his named called in the MLS Supplemental Draft when the Columbus Crew tabbed the senior midfielder.
- Urso battled his way through training camp to earn a roster spot alongside Speas.
- Billy Schuler opted to pass on MLS and signed with Hammarby IF of the Superettan in Sweden.
- Schuler followed a similar path as current manager and former Tar Heel Gregg Berhalter by signing with a European club.

In Memoriam Kirk Urso

March 6, 1990-August 5, 2012

North Carolina, 2008-11

Kirk Urso was a member of the Class of 2012, a four-year letterman of the men's soccer team, which advanced to four successive College Cups. He wore the captain's band for the 2011 Tar Heels who won the National Championship, Carolina's second in the sport.

In the 2011 NCAA Tournament, Urso scored the tying goal to rally the Tar Heels past Coastal Carolina in the first round, assisted on the game winning goal against Saint Mary's in the quarterfinals and converted the opening penalty kick to lift the Tar Heels past UCLA in the semifinals.

But well beyond these accomplishments Urso manifested a true love for his alma mater, exemplified by his role as a leader of distinction in the Carolina Leadership Academ, as a fixture on the student athlete advisory council and as a gifted student who was the ACC's Men's Scholar-Athlete of the Year.

During his four years on campus, Kirk never met a stranger and his infectious smile inviewed his life with the sense of purpose and resolve that was the envy of all he met.

A member of the Columbus Crew in Major League Soccer, we lost Kirk at the tragically young age of 22.

The University of North Carolina men's soccer program has written a long and successful story for itself and enters the 2009 campaign having posted just two losing seasons in the last 50 years.

With 16 trips to the NCAA tourney - including nine in the last 10 years - the 2001 national championship and three College Cup appearances in hand, the soccer program at Carolina has established itself as one of the finest in the Atlantic Coast Conference and the nation.

Elmar Bolowich became just the fourth head coach in school history in 1989 and has extended the rich history of Tar Heel men's soccer over the past 21 seasons

Tradition Of Excellence Begins With Allen

Bolowich took over after 12 successful seasons spearheaded by the coaching of Anson Dorrance, a former star player for the Tar Heels, who continues to direct the Carolina women's program to what is now legendary success each fall. Dorrance's men's teams went 172-65-21 from 1977 through 1988, a winning percentage of .708, the best of any coach in Carolina men's soccer history. He retired from men's coaching just two victories shy of becoming the University's all-time leader in coaching victories in the sport.

Dorrance's mentor in the sport, Dr. Marvin Allen, was the guiding force behind Dorrance's mentor in the sport, Dr. Marvin Allen, was the guiding force behind the founding of the soccer program at Carolina and its head coach for 28 seasons spanning four decades.

Dr. Allen, who also taught in the physical education department at Carolina, scored the first goal for Carolina's club soccer team when it was founded in the 1930s. In 1947, the University elevated the sport of men's soccer to varsity status and Allen, in a most natural decision, was named the team's first head coach. It was a decision by Athletic Director Bob Fetzer that bore fruit for years to come.

Allen coached the Tar Heels for 28 seasons in the period from 1947 until his retirement after the 1976 season. Allen missed the 1951 and 1952 seasons when he was on active duty with the United States Armed Forces in the Korean War and the team was coached on an interim basis during those two years by Alan Moore.

In 28 campaigns, Allen's teams combined for a record of 174-81-23, a winning percentage of .667. Allen's 1948 team won the Southern Conference title, the first of four league crowns won by UNC in its soccer history. Beginning in 1953, Carolina teams started competing in the Atlantic Coast Conference and compiled a record of 54-41-16 under Allen's leadership.

In 1966, Carolina won the first of its three ACC men's soccer championships,

In 1966, Carolina won the first of its three ACC men's soccer championships, sharing the championship with Maryland as both teams posted 3-1 records. Two years later, in 1968, North Carolina earned the first of its 14 bids to the NCAA Tournament, losing its first-round match to Michigan State 5-0 in Chapel Hill. The Spartans went on that year to share the NCAA championship with Maryland.

Dorrance Takes Over

Prior to Allen's last season at the helm of the Tar Heel program in 1976, Dorrance was designated head men's soccer coach at the University, assisting Allen during his last year before taking over the head duties in 1977. It was a wise choice by Tar Heel Athletic Director Bill Cobey.

Under the direction of both Dorrance and Bolowich, the Tar Heels have established themselves as a force to be heard from in the ACC and on the national soccer scene. In addition, competing in the ACC, the nation's toughest top-to-bottom collegiate soccer league, has helped give the Tar Heel program a high visibility.

Dorrance had some outstanding teams in his early years at Carolina. His 1977, 1978 and 1979 teams all finished second in the ACC while posting overall records of 14-3-1, 12-3-4 and 16-3-5, respectively. The 1981 team finished 15-6 overall and scored a shocking 1-0 overtime upset victory over Clemson in Chapel Hill, the first win for Carolina over the Tigers in 12 years. Freshman Kenny West scored an overtime goal for Carolina that day at Fetzer Field which gave UNC its first win over I.M. Ibrahim's powerhouse team since 1969.

In 1983, the Tar Heels finished the season with a brilliant 16-3-2 record but were snubbed by the NCAA selection committee when it passed out post-season bids. That slight even occurred after Carolina upset No. 1-ranked and undefeated Duke 2-1 in overtime in the final match of the regular season before a large crowd at Fetzer Field. Mark Devey scored an unassisted overtime goal to give the Tar Heels the win over the Blue Devils.

The breakthrough year for the Tar Heels under Dorrance proved to be 1987. Led by All-America defender David Smyth, the Tar Heels stunned the ACC by winning only their second conference title in history. The Tar Heels accomplished that feat by winning the championship of the inaugural ACC Men's Soccer Tournament, which was played that year before capacity crowds at Duke University. UNC used that tournament championship as a springboard to future success and advanced all the way to the NCAA Final Four, while recording 20 victories during the season.

Carolina had finished fourth that year in the ACC regular-season standings with a 3-3 record, but the Heels defeated fifth-seeded Clemson, 2-1, in overtime and top-seeded Virginia, 3-0, in the first two rounds of the ACC Tournament. Carolina then came back from a 3-1 second-half deficit to knock off NC State, 4-3, in the finals of the tournament. Smyth scored the tying goal for UNC with 4:37 left in regulation and then tournament most valuable player Derek Missimo, a freshman, scored the winning goal in overtime.

a freshman, scored the winning goal in overtime.

Advancing to NCAA Tournament play for only the second time in school history, the 1987 team had to win three consecutive games on the road to advance to the Final Four, blanking Duke, 2-0, edging South Carolina, 2-1, on sudden death penalty kicks and beating Loyola (Md.), 1-0, on yet another Missimo goal. The Final Four was awarded to Clemson by the NCAA committee. The Tigers defeated Carolina, 4-1, in the semifinals and then went on to beat San Diego State for the national championship.

Carolina suffered massive graduation losses off that 1987 team and, despite a preseason No. 1 ranking, started the following season in a sluggish maner. After 11 matches, Carolina found itself with a disappointing 4-6-1 ledger. But the Tar Heels ran off a seven-match winning streak to put themselves in contention for an NCAA Tournament bid. For the second straight year, UNC played well in the ACC Tournament, upsetting host Clemson 2-1 in the first round. That marked Carolina's first victory at Clemson since 1968. UNC then avenged a controversial regular-season loss at Duke by beating the Blue Devils 2-1 in the semifinals, a loss which knocked Duke out of the NCAA Tournament. In the finals, the Tar Heels jumped out on top of top-seeded Virginia in the first half, but the Cavaliers rallied for a 2-1 victory to deny UNC a second straight conference crown

The Heels did earn an NCAA invitation, however, as the No. 2 seed in the South Region. Carolina traveled to Wake Forest in the first round and beat the Demon Deacons, 2-0, before losing at top-seeded South Carolina, 3-1, in the South Region finals at Columbia, S.C.

Bolowich Takes The Reins

Dorrance resigned as men's coach after the 1988 season to concentrate on his duties with the Carolina women's team, and Bolowich has taken the Tar Heels to new heights since taking over as head coach in '89. The 2001 national title marked the summit of that climb to national prominence, and his 2008 club reached the national title game.

After missing the NCAĂ Tournament in Bolowich's first year as head coach, the Tar Heels returned to tournament play in 1990 and 1991. Surviving a midseason slump in 1990, Carolina claimed a tournament bid on the strength of regular season victories over third-ranked South Carolina, eighth-ranked Wake Forest and 10th-ranked ACC champion and NCAA Final Four participant NC State. The Heels downed Wake Forest, 2-1, in the first round of the NCAA Tournament under the lights at Fetzer Field before losing at perennial nemesis Virginia, 3-1, in the second round.

Carolina, with a mark of 15-6-1, found itself in postseason play once again in 1991. The Tar Heels played host to UNC Charlotte in the first round and beat the 49ers 1-0 in overtime as sophomore forward Todd Haskins scored in the 99th minute of play. The second-ranked Billikens of St. Louis eliminated the Tar Heels in the round of 16 with a resounding 4-0 victory at St. Louis the 49ers 1-0 in overtime as sophomore forward Todd Haskins scored in the 99th minute of play. The second-ranked Billikens of St. Louis eliminated the Tar Heels in the round of 16 with a resounding 4-0 victory at St. Louis.

After a disappointing 1992 campaign, Carolina returned to the limelight in 1993, ranking as high as 12th in the final Soccer News poll. Led by freshman sensation Temoc Suarez, the ACC Rookie of the Year, and All-America defender Gregg Berhalter, UNC finished 13-7-2 and advanced to the Round of 16 of the NCAA Tournament for the fourth time in six years.

Berhalter was especially amazing in an NCAA first round victory over Duke as he scored twice and assisted on another in UNC's 3-2 victory over the Blue Devils at Fetzer Field.

The 1994 campaign proved to be another success as Carolina finished 13-7 and made the NCAA Tournament for the sixth time in eight seasons. Led by All-Americas Eddie Pope and Temoc Suarez, as well as ACC Rookie of the Year Carey Talley, Carolina's season was highlighted by a 5-1 victory over national champion Virginia, only UNC's second win over the Cavaliers since 1980.

Injuries crippled the UNC team in 1995 but the Tar Heels still managed an 11-8-1 record. Among other injured players, preseason first-team All-America defender Eddie Pope was limited to just nine games. Nevertheless, Carolina played one of the toughest schedules in the nation, including eight games against top-15 foes, and reached the semifinals of the ACC Tournament. Junior Temoc Suarez led the Tar Heels in scoring and was named second-team All-ACC. Pope was named to the first-team despite his limited action and sophomore Carey Talley was a second-team all-conference choice.

The Tar Heels went 8-8-1 in 1996. Along the way, Carey Talley was named first-team All-ACC and third-team All-America after leading the Tar Heels with nine goals. Temoc Suarez led UNC in scoring for the fourth year in a row and was named second-team All-ACC.

Saddled with a young team and a lack of depth due to injury problems, Carolina was 6-13 in 1997, its first losing season in 40 years. Senior Carey Talley, one of 15 finalists for the Missouri Athletic Club Collegiate Player of the Year award, was named first-team All-ACC and third-team All-America for the second straight year.

The Tar Heels lost Talley to graduation and fielded one of the youngest teams in the nation in 1998 but grew up quickly and posted an 11-6-2 record, nearly earning an NCAA Tournament bid. Freshman forward Chris Carrieri was named the ACC Rookie of the Year and second-team All-ACC after leading the team in goals and points. Michael Bucy was named Academic All-America.

In 1999, Carolina brought back all 11 starters from the '98 campaign and returned to the NCAA Tournament for the first time in five seasons with a record of 12-7-1. Carrieri was named first-team All-ACC after finishing third in the conference in scoring, and defender Danny Jackson was a second-team honoree. Bucy tied for the ACC lead in assists and was named first-team Academic All-America.

The 2000 Tar Heels (21-3, 5-1 ACC) shared the ACC regular-season championship, won the second ACC Tournament title in the program's history and reached the NCAA Tournament quarterfinals for the second time in school annals. Along the way, Carolina was ranked No. 1 in the nation for much of the season and won 15 games in a row, the longest winning streak in school history. UNC's No. 1 seeding in the tournament was its highest ever in men's soccer.

UNC won the ACC Tournament with a 1-0 win over Wake Forest in the semifinals and a 1-0 overtime win over Virginia in the title game. The ACC championship was UNC's second ever and first since 1987.

After winning the 2001 national title, Bolowich guided the Tar Heels back to the NCAA Tournament for the fourth and fifth consecutive seasons in 2002 and '03. Carolina posted a 14-7-1 overall record and secured its third consecutive winning mark in conference play with a 3-2-1 mark in 2002 before going 12-4-4 and claiming the tournament's No. 4 overall seed in '03. The 2004 Tar Heels made it a sixth straight trip to the postseason with a 10-9-2 record. In 2005 Carolina was led by an outstanding defense that logged a school-record 15 shutouts and posted a scoreless streak of over 900 minutes that carried over into NCAA tournament play. The Tar Heels advanced to the ACC tourney final but lost to Duke on penalty kicks, and reached the quarterfinals of the NCAA championship on wins over Providence and Virginia at Fetzer Field. UNC's season ended with a 3-2 double-overtime loss to SMU.

The 2006 Tar Heels went 11-6-3 and earned a record eighth straight trip to the NCAA Tournament, but UNC slipped to 7-8-5 in 2007 and missed the post-season for the first time since 1998.

UNC finished 15-8-1 in 2008 and returned to the postseason in a big way, advancing to the NCAA College Cup for the third time in school history and first since 2001. Seeded 13th after losing five consecutive matches entering the tournament, the Tar Heels won four straight one-goal games in the postseason, including a 1-0 win over No. 1 Wake Forest in the semis before falling to Maryland by the same score in the title game.

Maryland by the same score in the title game.

UNC was led by a pair of senior All-Americas in Brian Shriver, who topped the scoring charts with 33 points and 14 goals, and Michael Callahan, who anchored the midfield with three goals and five assists.

2001 National Champs

In 2001, Carolina won the first national championship in program history, going 21-4 overall. The Tar Heels posted a school-record 14 shutouts and won three straight overtime games in the NCAA Tournament. The 21 wins equalled the school record set in 2000.

The Tar Heels led the ACC in scoring offense and allowed just 19 goals in 25 games all season, outscoring their opposition 66-19 on the year. UNC went 4-2 in the ACC for its first back-to-back winning ACC records since 1979-80 and most ACC wins in a two-year period in school history. Carolina went a perfect 12-0 at home, including three NCAA Tournament wins.

Goalkeeper Michael Ueltschey set a school record with 12 shutouts on the season, while as a team Carolina set a school record with 14 wins by shutout. Ueltschey ended his brilliant career as UNC's all-time leader with 28.5 shutouts.

A Rich Tradition Of Tremendous Players

The recent success of Carolina in the sport of men's soccer is certainly no aberration, however. The Tar Heels have had a quality program since Marvin Allen coached that first team back in 1947.

Carolina has had 17 players land All-America honors in its soccer history, beginning with midfielder Frank Nelson in that initial season of 1947. Right wing Eddie Foy starred for interim coach Alan Moore in 1951 to win All-America honors and was one of three Tar Heel All-Americas in the 1950s. After Allen returned from his military service in Korea, he helped develop All-America left wing Pete Cothran in 1955 and midfielder Bill Blair in 1957.

The 1960s saw three All-America selections in Chapel Hill - back Terry Henry in 1966, midfielder Louis Bush in 1967 and midfielder Mark Packard in both 1968 and 1969.

Some of the other greats to play for the Tar Heels include Dave Boak, who led the Tar Heels in scoring twice and paced the team to a Southern Conference championship in 1948; John Ghanim, who scored what was then a school-record 16 goals in 1959, a mark which stood until Missimo broke it with 20 tallies in 1989; Hugh Goodman, the school's initial first-team All-South selection in 1958; Jackie Writer, who scored a then school career-record 26 goals from 1964-66 and went on to coach at Cornell University; Tony Johnson, a striker who is tied for sixth on Carolina's career list with 32 goals; Mark Devey, another striker who is tied with Johnson for sixth on Carolina's career goal list with 32 and is sixth in points with 91; Billy Hartman, a midfielder who is seventh on the career charts at UNC in points with 88 and fourth in assists with 33; Dino Megaloudis, a midfielder who is third all-time at UNC with 34 career assists; Kevin Kane, who still holds several Carolina goalkeeping records set in the late 1970s; and Watson Jennison, who in his four-year goalkeeping career which ended in 1992, established school records for goalkeeper minutes played, saves and consecutive shutouts.

Amongst other accolades, Smyth was a finalist for National Player of the Year honors in 1987 and teammate Donald Cogsville earned first-team All-ACC honors at two different positions—as a defender in 1987 and at forward in 1988.

ors at two different positions — as a defender in 1987 and at forward in 1988.

Midfielder Chad Ashton graduated after the 1989 campaign after becoming the University's all-time assists leader with 43. Meanwhile, Missimo, who played his senior year in 1990, finished with a school-record 138 points and 56 goals.

All-America choices in the 1990s included sweepers Gregg Berhalter and Eddie Pope, offensive wizard Temoc Suarez, heady midfielder Carey Talley and forward Chris Carrieri.

Carrieri was a two-time All-America who in 2000 shattered school records for goals and points in a season. He was the top overall pick in the 2001 MLS SuperDraft. Defender Danny Jackson also was named All-America in the 2000 and '01 seasons'

The Tar Heels also saw three players taken in the MLS SuperDraft in both 2003 and 2005 and a record four players were chosen in the 2007 draft, including No. 3 overall pick Michael Harrington.

Midfielder Dax McCarty claimed All-America honors in 2005 and was a member of the 2008 United States Olympic Team. Brian Shriver and Michael Callahan were both named All-Americas in 2008, giving the Tar Heels multiple honorees for just the fourth time in school history and the first since 2000. Shriver and Callahan helped lead the Tar Heels to a national runner-up finish in 2008. All-America Zach Loyd led the Tar Heels back to the College Cup in 2009 before becoming the fifth overall pick in the 2010 MLS Superdraft.

The 2010 squad featured four MLS Superdraft selections, including a pair of first round selections in defenders Jalil Anibaba and Eddie Ababio. The midfield

The midfield duo of Michael Farfan and Stephen McCarthy went back-to-back in the second round after the quartet helped lead UNC to its third consecutive NCAA College Cup appearance.

2011 National Champs

In 2011, Carolina won the second national championship in program history, going 21-2-3 overall. The Tar Heels rolled thorugh the regular season dropping just two matches, both on the road, to claim the ACC regular season crown.

The Tar Heels would go on to post a 58-18 goals scored to goals conceded mark as a high-powered offense fueled by Billy Schuler's 16 goals paired well with one of the top defense in the country.

Carolina would add the third ACC Tournament Championship to its trophy case with a 3-1 victory over Boston College in the final to inch one more step towards history.

The Tar Heels opened the NCAA Tournament with a 3-2 win over Coastal Carolina before Schuler rose to the occasion with an overtime winner against soccer powerhouse Indiana in the third round.

A 2-0 win over Saint Mary's sent the Tar Heels to their fourth consecutive College Cup where they locked up with UCLA in one of the most entertaining matches in NCAA history.

The teams would battle to a 2-2 draw, with both Carolina goals coming in the second half, before securing a 3-1 penalty shootout win. Ben Speas would tally the lone goal in the championship match as Carolina downed Charlotte, 1-0, to raise the second championship trophy in school history.

The 2001 North Carolina Tar Heels notched the men's first national title in their first-ever appearance in a national championship contest. After a thrilling, late-game comeback win over Stanford to reach the finals, the Tar Heels faced and defeated five-time champion Indiana, who entered the tournament having given up just six goals all season. In addition, the Hoosiers had knocked UNC out in the quarterfinals the year before in Chapel Hill.

The Tar Heels used an early goal 12 minutes in off a header by junior Ryan Kneipper to establish an early 1-0 lead and set the tone for the game. Kneipper beat an Indiana defender and goalkeeper Colin Rogers to a long cross from Matt Crawford and headed a shot from six yards out just inside the right post.

The Tar Heels then turned to their defense, led by senior captains Danny Jackson and Chris Leitch, senior goal-keeper Michael Ueltschey and sophomore David Stokes, who was assigned to Indiana all-everything player Pat Noonan for most of the game. The Hoosiers put pressure on the Heels, but could not find a way to even the score against the stalwart Carolina defense.

At the 75 minute mark freshman Marcus Storey was fouled in the box, leading to a penalty kick by Jackson into the top left of the net, giving Carolina a 2-0 lead. The score would hold up as Carolina claimed its first ever national title

Carolina's chances of even reaching the finals looked bleak with less than 10 minutes on the clock in its NCAA semifinal versus Stanford. Carolina trailed 2-0 at the time, when forward David Testo bent a left-footed shot from 25 yards out just inside the far post to breathe life back into the Tar Heel attack. Less than two minutes later the Tar Heels found the back of the net again, as Matt Crawford knocked in a rebound to tie the score at two with around eight minutes remaining.

The two teams would go at it for the final eight minutes of regulation and through four overtime periods until Carolina finally broke the deadlock when Mike Gell took a long pass from UNC keeper Michael Ueltschey and chipped a shot over onrushing goalkeeper Andrew Terris in the 136th minute. The goal gave Carolina the 3-2 victory and a place in the title game.

Drama was no stranger to the Heels in the 2001 NCAA tournament. Carolina needed and received overtime goals to defeat both American and Farleigh Dickinson along their march to the championship. For the season Carolina finished with a school-record 21 wins against only four defeats.

Carolina's 2011 NCAA Title

HOOVER, Ala. - Junior Ben Speas turned in the goal of the tournament to provide Carolina with a 1-0 edge in the 65th minute and the Tar Heel defense stepped up in the final minutes to give UNC its second national title in school history with a 1-0 win over Charlotte at Regions Parks in Hoover, Ala. The title comes 10 years after UNC won the championship in 2001.

The goal was Speas' third of the tournament and earned the junior forward Most Valuable Offensive Player honors.

Speas nearly put the Tar Heels ahead just minutes before his goal as he worked his way down the left flank before moving to the middle of the field and floating a ball to the far post. Sophomore Rob Lovejoy was making a run down the right and connected on a diving header as the cross got over the Charlotte defender but Lovejoy's header sailed wide of the target.

The Tar Heels struggled to control possession early on as Charlotte controlled the tempo. The 49ers had four shots in the opening 17 minutes of play but the Tar Heel backline made sure that none reached goalkeeper Scott Goodwin. Center backs Boyd Okwuonu and Matt Hedges combined to block three of the early opportunities.

Neither team was able to register a shot on goal in the opening 45 minutes but the Tar Heels turned in the best opportunity when midfielder Mikey Lopez forced a turnover and started a counter attack.

The Tar Heels finally broke through in the 65th minute when Speas turned in a golazo with his shot from 25 yards out that changed the momentum of the match.

Carolina held possession after the initial tally and were looking to add to their total before Charlotte mounted a late charge.

The 49ers earned a corner kick in the 84th minute and nearly found the equalizer when Thomas Allen ripped a shot from eight yards out. The ball was destined for the back of the net but defender Jordan Gafa was the last man on the line and headed the ball clear.

The line clearance started a flurry of shots from the 49ers that the Tar Heels continued to turn away. The 87th minute saw Charlotte rip a shot that was saved by Goodwin, the rebound was crossed to T.J. Beaulieu who headed the ball off the crossbar. Jordan McCrary forced his way in front of the next shot opportunity before a shot went side of the goal for a goal kick.

The Tar Heels held off three final shots from the 49ers to claim their second national championship in school history.

The Tar Heels are the first ACC team since Virginia in 1995 to claim the treble as UNC won the ACC regular season and tournament titles in addition to the NCAA title. Carolina finishes with a 21-2-3 mark which equals the school record for wins with the 2001 team.

Head coach Carlos Somoano becomes just the second coach in NCAA history to claim a national title in his first year.

Carolina has reached the NCAA Tournament in nine of the last 10 seasons, and is coming off the program's third trip to the NCAA College Cup and a national runner-up finish. Overall, the Tar Heel men's soccer team has competed in 16 NCAA tournaments, compiling a 21-15-0 record.

The Tar Heels made their first NCAA Tournament appearance in 1968 in a game played on a wet and muddy Fetzer Field. Unfortunately, the Tar Heels' debut was spoiled by the defending national co-champion, Michigan State. The Spartans won 5-0 on three goals by Tony Keyes and two by Tom Kreft. MSU outshot the Tar Heels, 37-6.

The next time Carolina returned to the tournament was 1987, its most successful run prior to capturing the 2001 national title. Coached by Anson Dorrance, the Tar Heels entered the NCAA Tournament as the eighth-ranked team in the nation after winning the ACC Tournament championship. In the first round, Carolina defeated arch-rival and defending national champion Duke, 2-0. The Tar Heels then battled South Carolina through two overtimes and a shootout before winning, 2-1, on a penalty kick by Derek Missimo.

In the quarterfinal against Loyola (Md.), Missimo scored on a header to give the Tar Heels a 1-0 victory, making Carolina only the fourth team in ACC history to achieve 20 wins in a season. Carolina then went to the Final Four but fell 4-1 to eventual champion Clemson on the Tigers' home field. The Tar Heels were ranked sixth in the final Soccer America rankings and placed sweeper David Smyth on the All-America team.

In 1988, Anson Dorrance's final year as the men's coach, the Tar Heels defeated Wake Forest, 2-0, in the first round of the tournament. Both Tar Heel goals came in the first half as Adam Tinkham scored on a breakaway and Marc Buffin kicked one in from 25 yards out. For Carolina, it was the 10th win in 11 games in a season-ending run, the only loss coming to Virginia in the ACC Tournament championship game. The Tar Heels then advanced to the South Region championship, where they lost 3-1 to the University of South Carolina Gamecocks.

Under current coach Elmar Bolowich, Carolina again defeated Wake Forest in the first round of the 1990 tournament. Freshmen Chris Lyn and Brent Walker scored to give Carolina a 2-1 win and improve the series record against the Demon Deacons to 9-1-2. In the second round, the Tar Heels were defeated, 3-1, by Virginia at Charlottesville.

In the first round of the tournament in 1991, the Tar Heels defeated UNC Charlotte, 1-0, at Fetzer Field. Todd Haskins scored the winning goal on an assist by David Moore in the first overtime period. The Tar Heels then travelled to Saint Louis, falling 4-0 to the hometown Billikens.

In 1993, the Tar Heels were once again victorious in the first round, holding on for a 3-2 victory over Duke. Gregg Berhalter scored a pair of goals off free kicks, then Chapel Hill native Greg Caiola came off the bench to score the game-winner in the 69th minute. In the second round, the Tar Heels were upset, 2-1, by Air Force after ACC Rookie of the Year Temoc Suarez suffered a broken ankle midway through the first half.

Carolina returned to NCAA Tournament action in 1994 for the sixth time in eight seasons. Despite possessing the home-field advantage, Carolina was beaten by James Madison, 3-0, in the first round.

The Tar Heels made an NCAA Tournament appearance in 1999 after a fouryear absence. UNC played at No. 3 Furman and gave the Paladins, who eventually reached the NCAA Quarterfinals, all they could handle before losing, 2-1, in overtime.

In 2000, Carolina was the top overall seed in the tournament after winning the ACC championship. UNC hosted three games at Fetzer Field, coming back from a 2-0 deficit in the first round to defeat William & Mary, 3-2, in an overtime game played in a driving snowstorm. The Heels downed Rhode Island, 3-1, in the second round before losing to two-time defending NCAA champion Indiana in the quarterfinals.

The 2001 Tar Heels notched the men's first national title in their first-ever appearance in a national title game. After a rousing, late-game comeback win over Stanford to reach the finals, the Tar Heels faced and defeated five-time champion Indiana, who entered the tournament having given up just six goals all season. In addition, the Hoosiers had knocked UNC out in the quarterfinals the year before in Chapel Hill.

The Tar Heels used an early goal 12 minutes in off a header by junior Ryan Kneipper to grab an early 1-0 lead. Kneipper beat an Indiana defender and goalkeeper Colin Rogers to a long cross from Matt Crawford and headed a shot from six yards out just inside the right post.

The Tar Heels then turned to their defense, led by senior captains Danny Jackson and Chris Leitch, senior goalkeeper Michael Ueltschey and sophomore David Stokes, who was assigned to Indiana all-everything player Pat Noonan for most of the game. Indiana put pressure on the Heels, but could not find a way to even the score against the stalwart Carolina defense.

At the 75 minute mark freshman Marcus Storey was fouled in the box, leading to a penalty kick by Jackson into the top left of the net, giving Carolina a 2-0 lead and its first-ever national title.

The Tar Heels made their fourth consecutive tourney appearance in 2002. Carolina opened its title defense with a 6-0 win over Winthrop in Chapel Hill, paced by Kneipper's school-record tying five goals. In the second round, UNC fell on the road to Penn State, 1-0, in double overtime.

In 2003, UNC earned the No. 4 national seed and a first-round bye but lost to the nation's highest-scoring team, Coastal Carolina, 3-0, at Fetzer Field in the second round of the tourney.

The Tar Heels hosted a postseason match for the fifth straight year in 2004, but fell to George Washington, 1-0, in the first round.

Carolina was the tournament's No. 4 overall seed once again in 2005 and advanced to the quarterfinals for the fourth time in school history and third time over the last six seasons. The Tar Heels opened with wins over Providence (2-0) and Virginia (2-1) behind four goals from Ben Hunter. UNC was eliminted in the round of eight by SMU, 3-2 in double overtime.

UNC hosted once again - as the No. 14 seed - in 2006 but suffered a 1-0 loss to Old Dominion in its first match.

After missing the 2007 tourney, the Tar Heels returned as the No. 13 seed in the 2008 and made a run to the national title game with four straight one-goal victories and a stout defense. After opening the tourney with a second round win over Jacksonville, Carolina posted a 3-2 rain-soaked, overtime win over UIC to reach the quarterfinal round. All-America Michael Callahan tied the match with a 12-yard rocket in the 87th minute. In overtime, Brian Shriver sent a cross from the left flank to Garry Lewis at the far post for the game-winning header in the 98th minute.

Lewis at the far post for the game-winning header in the 95th minute.

The Tar Heels punched their ticket to the College Cup with a 1-0 win over Northwestern at Fetzer Field on freshman Kirk Urso's game-winner 61st minute.

UNC met No. 1 Wake Forest in the semifinals and jumped in front with a Brian Shriver header in the fourth minute. Zach Loyd made a run up the right side and found Shriver in the box for what proved to the the game-winner.

The Demon Deacons pressured the Tar Heels for the rest of the match, but goal-keeper Brooks Haggerty, who made a career-best seven saves, and the back four withstood the pressure and advanced to their second national title match with their third shutout of the 2008 NCAA Tournament.

In the final, Carolina suffered a 1-0 loss to Maryland, ending their memorable run through the postseason.

Carolina made a return trip to the College Cup in 2009 where the Tar Heels squared off against undefeated and untied No. 1 Akron in the semifinals. The Tar Heels held the Zips scoreless for the first time on the season before falling, 5-4, in penalties.

The Tar Heels opened the NCAA Tournament with a first round bye before dispatching No. 25 Brown by a 2-0 margin. Indiana came to Chapel Hill next and left in similar fashion as Alex Dixon tallied the lone goal in UNC's 1-0 win. Next on the docket was No. 24 Drake who were the lone team to tally against Carolina during the 2009 NCAA Tournament en route to falling 2-1. Kirk Urso and Dixon scored in the win as Dixon became the first player in school history to score in three consecutive NCAA Tournament games.

North Carolina advanced to its third consecutive NCAA College Cup in 2010 in remarkable fashion as the Tar Heels became the first team in NCAA history to advance three consecutive rounds via penalty shootout.

The Tar Heels opened with a 0-0 draw against Georgetown before advancing 5-4 on penalties. In the second round sophomore All-America Enzo Martinez delivered the goal of the tournament scoring with nine seconds remaining in regulation to tie Michigan State before UNC advanced 5-4 on penalties once again. Another 1-1 draw in the quarterfinal round against SMU resulted in a 4-2 penalty win to send Carolina to Santa Barbara.

In the semifinal Carolina went up against undefeated and No. 1 overall seed Louisville. The Cardinals took a 1-0 lead early in the second half before Stephen McCarthy headed home a cross from Alex Dixon four minutes later to knot the score at 1-1. In another match looking to head to penalties the Cardinals scored a last-minute goal to drop the Heels in heartbreaking fashion.

The 2011 season saw the Tar Heels reach the College Cup for a fourth straight year and finally knock down the door to claim their second national championship in school history. Carolina claimed a 3-2 win over Coastal Carolina in the second round before Rilly Schuler sent the Tar Heels through with an overtime winner against Indiana.

Billy Schuler sent the Tar Heels through with an overtime winner against Indiana. The Tar Heels downed Saint Mary's 2-0 in the quarterfinals to earn a trip to Hoover, Ala. where Carolina locked up with UCLA. The Tar Heels fell in an early 1-0 hole but netted a pair of goals in the second half to force overtime and an eventual penalty shootout that the Tar Heels claimed, 3-1.

Ben Speas was the only person to tally in the championship as Carolina downed Charlotte to claim the 2011 National Championship.

Led by seniors (left to right) Eddie Robinson, Carson Porter, Michael Bucy, Brad Thomas, Matt Laycock and Caleb Norkus, the 2000 Tar Heels set or tied 11 school records on the way to winning the ACC Tournament.

This David Smyth goal in the 1987 ACC title game helped give the Tar Heels their first-ever league championship.

The 2011 squad claimed both the ACC regular season and tournament titles during their national championship season.

Berhalter, Pope Play For U.S. In 2002 And 2006 World Cup

Former University of North Carolina men's soccer stars and long-time U.S. National Team members Gregg Berhalter and Eddie Pope were members of the 23-man 2006 United States World Cup team after also earning spots on the U.S. squad in 2002.

The two defenders both started games for the U.S. team during its 2002 qualifying campaign and World Cup run, and Pope started two matches in the 2006 World Cup.

Pope, who lettered at Carolina from 1992-95, made his third World Cup appearance, having started three World Cup games in 1998. Pope was a regular with the U.S. team throughout the last decade before retiring from international play following the 2006 World Cup.
Berhalter lettered at Carolina from 1991-93 and played professionally in Europe since leaving

Chapel Hill until joining the MLS' LA Galaxy this season. He entered the 2006 World Cup with 44 career caps and was an injury replacement for Cory Gibbs. Berhalter started three games as a central defender during the USA's 2002 qualifying season and that year's World Cup was the first of his career.

HELP PROVIDE THE TAR HEEL EXPERIENCE

The University of North Carolina is an exceptional place. You know it from your time on campus. Maybe it is the bells, or even the Well, or perhaps the stone walls. It most certainly is the people. Whatever factors play into it, the "Tar Heel Experience" is something that all Carolina alumni, students, fans and supporters can deeply appreciate.

Members of The Rams Club provide life changing opportunities for accomplished student-athletes to experience this exceptional place. They provide the resources for them to excel as competitors, students and leaders. By renewing your membership in The Rams Club or by joining as a new member, the Tar Heel Experience remains possible for deserving student-athletes.

MAKE AN IMPACT

Annual Fund

The Rams Club has over 16,000 members who contribute to the Annual Fund. Your annual donation as a member of The Rams Club is vital to helping to cover the immediate funding needs of Carolina Athletics, particularly the cost of providing 450 scholarships annually.

Carolina Forever

Carolina Forever provides an opportunity for donors to leave a lasting legacy and ensure the future of Carolina Athletics. Giving to this program will allow the member substantial tax benefits while also giving generous support to Carolina's athletic programs.

Scholarship Endowment

Giving to the Scholarship Endowment fund allows donors to provide critical, long-term support for Carolina's athletic scholarship program. The cost to endow a scholarship is $500,000, payable over 5 years. Its annual yield helps cover the 450 scholarships provided by Carolina Athletics.

Sports Endowments

Each of Carolina's sports programs has its own endowment which members can contribute toward in addition to their annual fund donation. Sport endowments are integral to Carolina's commitment to a broad-based athletic program and allow each program to meet its specific needs.

"The first time I put on my jersey at UNC and saw the famous symbol on my chest, I got goosebumps. But it is the unparalleled combination of amazing athletics, challenging academics, and a wonderful student experience that explains why I still get that same feeling almost 4 years later. I'm Scott Goodwin and I'm a Tar Heel."
